WE ARE ALL SO FOND OF KISSING.

As sung by JOHN DULEY of Perham's Opera Troupe.

Oh, kiss me quick and let me go,
Dont keep me here a waiting,
For if by chance we should be caught,
It would set the gal's a talking.
I vow, I quite in passion get,
To see you act so silly,
I think I'll have to kiss you first,
For I'm getting very chilly.

Chorus.

O, Kiss me quick, and let me go,
Dont keep me here a waiting,
For if by chance we should be caught,
It would set the gal's a talking.

She's fond of kissing, that I know,
So often as I meet her,
She says, "kiss me quick, and let me go,
You'll love me all the better."
At evening when the room was dark,
And time was getting later,
I thought I'd steel a kiss from her,
And I kissed the Servant Waiter.
O, kiss me quick, &c.

O, now I'll give you my advice,
When you go a sparking,
Don't do your kissing in the dark,
For fear your lips of marking.
But choose the day and fear no shame,
If its not distressing,
I'm sure its nothing very new,
For we're all so fond of kissing.
O, kiss me quick, and let me go,&c.
